DIRECTIONS FOR WINTER FOOD PLOT PLANTING

Planting winter plots is the most common type of food plot planting there is. By following several simple guidelines, you can improve your property's habitat and provide wildlife with a vital food source during a time of food deficiency through the winter.

Directions for Planting:

1. Prepare seed bed 2 weeks prior to scheduled planting date. Remember to always plant in front of a rain.
2. Prepare seed bed with disc harrow or tiller. Once field is prepared, use a cultipacker, if possible, to create a smooth and firm seed bed.
3. Once seed bed is prepared, spread fertilizer. We recommend 13-13-13 fertilizer at 300 pounds per acre. Spread evenly.
4. Distribute seed evenly over the field. Try to drive in similar tracks to the fertilizer spreading.
5. Once seed is spread, use disc harrow to lightly disk in the seed. Set disk as least aggressive as possible but enough to cover seed. If you used a cultipacker to prepare the seed bed, use this again to cover the seed. Nothing else.
6. Once plants are approximately 3 weeks old, or 6 inches high, apply 33-0-0 (or Nitrogen) to the field before a rain. If you don't, the nitrogen will evaporate within days and be useless.
7. Our mixes do not contain a high percentage of clover. This is because most consumers plant the clover too deep, rendering it useless. If using a cultipacker, this will limit this effect.
8. If you used a cultipacker to plant your seed, purchase 5 pounds of clover per acre. Top seed fields after covering seed and let the rain push it into the dirt. If you used a disc harrow or other covering method, purchase 7 pounds of clover per acre for top seeding. Use same directions.
